* Final Round of Infosys Certification ***

Final Round of Infosys Certification has been scheduled for students who had cleared the Qualifier Round but were not able to take the examination in March due to the sudden lockdown in different parts of the country.

Please note that the Final Round of Infosys Certification will now be an online, Web-proctored examination scheduled for Sunday, June 14, 2020. The three hour examination will begin at 10 AM while the log in window will remain open till 10:15 AM.

Since the Final Round of Infosys Certification will now be an online, Web-proctored examination, prior to the test students are requested to ensure they have a working laptop/desktop which meets the mandatory system requirements for a smooth login and examination experience.

Eligible students will shortly receive a separate email from the InfyTQ team on their registered email address with the time and other details of the Final Round examination as well as their user ID and Password to log in with.

Important Notes

1. The examination guidelines for the Final Round of Infosys Certification have been revised. Students are requested to read the attached Examination Guidelines carefully.
2. Use of digital devices such as calculators, mobile phones, digital diaries, digital/smart watch, palm tops, etc. during the examination is prohibited.
3. Students who score 65% or above will be eligible for a job interview at Infosys. The interview will be conducted on a video call, through a virtual meeting platform, and will test the student's technical and behavioral skills. Students eligible for the interview will be informed by email when their interview is scheduled by the Infosys Talent Acquisition team.
4. Student who score 65% or above will receive their certificate on their registered email address after the verification and the interview process.
5. In case of any unforeseen event, Infosys has the right to cancel the Infosys Certification examination without prior intimation.

Warning: Any student found indulging in malpractice, including but not limited to using fake credentials, will have their certification and Infosys job offer invalidated with immediate effect.
